

About Buckley Law

We are a Pacific Northwest law firm dedicated to the goal of helping our clients achieve their personal and business objectives. We provide outstanding services in the transactional and litigation arenas and our service offerings in these fields include everything from simple transactions to complex litigation. Buckley Law P.C. was formed in January 2011 when the firm of Buckley LeChevallier P.C. merged with the business law group of Grenley, Rotenberg, Evans, Bragg & Bodie P.C. (Grenley Rotenberg). We currently have 21 attorneys and 16 support personnel at Buckley Law providing a broad range of specialized services in the business, civil litigation, employment law, estate planning, family law and real estate fields. The firm's attorneys serve as general counsel to businesses and governmental agencies, and provide local counsel to national and international corporations. Whether representing the large multinational corporation or the individual business client, Buckley Law coordinates the work of all attorneys who have expertise in several matters rather than assign the work to a single group. As a result, our clients receive the best possible legal advice. Representative Clients: APCON, Inc.
